C-SPAN Announces Winners of 2022 StudentCam Documentary Competition Awarding Over $100,000 in Cash Prizes

Students express how the federal government impacts their lives

Tyler and Dermott Foley will receive $5,000 for the Grand Prize documentary, "What Happened to Gibson Grove?"

WASHINGTON (March 16, 2022) – C-SPAN announces the winners of this year's StudentCam documentary competition, in which more than 3,000 students from across the country participated. Again this year, 150 cash prizes totaling $100,000 will be awarded to students and teachers.

The competition, now in its 18th year, asked students to join the national conversation on the challenges our country is facing with the theme: "How does the federal government impact your life?"

The 2022 grand prize winners are siblings Tyler and Dermott Foley, students at Eastern Middle School in Silver Spring, Maryland, where C-SPAN is available through its partner Comcast. The Foleys will receive $5,000 for the documentary, "What Happened to Gibson Grove?" about highways, racial injustice and the fight to save America's Black cemeteries. This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day April 21.

In cooperation with its cable television partners, C-SPAN invited all middle and high school students to enter the documentary contest. In response, C-SPAN received over 1,400 entries from 41 states, Washington, D.C., Morocco and South Korea. The most popular topics addressed were:

- Environment & Pollution (10%)
- Health Care & Mental Health (9%)
- COVID-19 & Recovery (7%)

- Immigration (5%)
- 2nd Amendment & Firearm Legislation (4%)

"This year we asked students to reflect on how a federal program or policy is relevant to their lives and communities," said Craig McAndrew, director of C-SPAN Education Relations. "The winners showcased exceptional research and production values as they wove personal stories with historical or contemporary issues. These middle and high school students far exceeded our expectations, and we are elated to share their hard work with the country."

High school students competed on a regional level, with the United States divided into three regions: East, Central and West. Middle school students were judged on a national basis. The grand prize winner was selected nationally among all regions and grade levels.

Evelyn Shue and Ida Chen, Maryland students at Richard Montgomery High School in Rockville and Winston Churchill High School in Potomac, will receive $3,000 as first prize winners in the East region for the documentary, "Something in the Water," about the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974. In Rockville and Potomac, C-SPAN is available through Comcast. This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day April 19.

Jason Boudreaux, Jaleaha Joseph and Shontenaisha Manuel, students at College Street Vocational Center in Lake Charles, Louisiana, will receive $3,000 as first prize winners in the Central region for the documentary, "FEMA's Impact on Our Lives in Southwest Louisiana." In Lake Charles, C-SPAN is available through Suddenlink, the local provider of internet, TV, home and mobile phone service. This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day April 20.

Kimber Koteskey and Zoe Gliko, students at Foothills Community Christian School in Great Falls, Montana — where C-SPAN is available through Spectrum — will receive $3,000 as first prize winners in the West region for the documentary, "American Rescue Plan: Economic Boost or Bust?" This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day April 18.

Aria Rani Sindlecker, a student at Isaac Newton Graham Middle School in Mountain View, California, is a national first prize winner in the middle school division and will receive $3,000 for the documentary, "Stigma-Free Nation: Pathway to Parity," about the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act. Comcast makes C-SPAN available in Mountain View. This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day April 17.

Nathan Kuczarski, a student at Saint Ignatius High School in Cleveland, Ohio, is a second prize winner in C-SPAN's national 2022 StudentCam competition. Kuczarski will receive $1,500 for the documentary, "Dream of Clean Water." This video was also recognized as "Fan Favorite" as voted on by the public between March 6 - 13. Kuczarski will receive an additional $500 in prize money. This documentary will air on C-SPAN at 6:50 a.m. ET and throughout the day on April 8.

C-SPAN is funded by America's cable television companies, its partners in StudentCam.

In addition to the grand prize and first prize winners, C-SPAN is awarding 16 second prizes, 32 third prizes and 97 honorable mention prizes. These winning videos will receive cash awards of $1,500, $750 and $250, respectively. The StudentCam competition has awarded over $1 million in prizes since 2004.

Each winning video is available to view at www.studentcam.org and may be used in a broadcast with attribution to C-SPAN.

The annual StudentCam competition is sponsored by the C-SPAN Education Foundation. Videos were evaluated by a panel of educators and C-SPAN representatives based on the thoughtful examination of the competition's theme, quality of expression, inclusion of varying sides of the documentary's topic and effective incorporation of C-SPAN programming.
